Seabed Survey in the Kinsale Head Gas Field & the Seven Heads Gas Field off the South Coast of Ireland

The Department of Transport, Tourism and Sport has been advised by PSE Kinsale Energy Limited that a seabed mapping survey will be undertaken off the South Coast of Ireland. The survey is to confirm the seabed status adjacent to subsea gas production infrastructure such as wellheads, manifolds and jacket/platform structures. The aim of the survey is to undertake multi-beam mapping of the seabed at selected locations. The data forms part of ongoing field maintenance operations and provides information for future planning.

The survey is expected to commence on the 12th June 2017 and last for 5/6 days approximately, subject to weather conditions.

The “RV Celtic Voyager” (Callsign: EIQM) is scheduled to carry out the survey operations within the areas of the image below (figure 1). The survey will conduct multi-beam mapping of specific locations to assess the status of the subsea infrastructure in relation to the adjacent seabed. A total of 15 multi-beam mapping locations are anticipated.

The survey areas are bounded by two boxes as outlined in Figure 1 below, which have the following (GPS) coordinates:

Kinsale Head Gas Field	Latitude	Longitude
North West Corner	51° 28' 21.262" N	08° 13' 13.374" W
South West Corner	51° 18' 15.382" N	08° 13' 24.013" W
North East Corner	51° 28' 10.066" N	07° 50' 37.207" W
South East Corner	51° 18' 04.248" N	07° 50' 52.449" W
Seven Heads Gas Field	Latitude	Longitude
North West Corner	51° 15' 46.80" N	08° 27' 50.611" W
South West Corner	51° 09' 17.564" N	08° 27' 56.237" W
North East Corner	51° 15' 41.454" N	08° 12' 11.024" W
South East Corner	51° 09' 12.247" N	08° 12' 18.830" W

There will be a regular safety message broadcasting on VHF CH 16 throughout the project. All vessels, particularly those engaged in fishing, are requested to give the “RV Celtic Voyager” (callsign: EIQN) a wide berth and keep a sharp lookout in the relevant areas.
